RATT'S
MINERAL COLOZA.
300° FIRE TEST.
has. Pratt & Co., New York,
Sole Proprietors and Manufacturers.

Consumers of High Fire-Test Mineral Oils.
YOUR ATTENTION IS PARTICULARLY invited to our 300° Fire-Test Oil, called "Pratt's Mineral Coloza," which we are now manufacturing expressly for STEAMSHIP, RAILROAD, MILL ILLUMINATION, or for use where an exceedingly high Fire-Test Oil is required. It has already been adopted by many of the Railroads throughout the country, and by most of the coastwise steamers sailing from New York, whose continued use in preference to all similar Oils is sufficient commendation as to its quality. It will not burn well in the ordinary Petroleum Lamp, it being of too heavy gravity for such use; but in the German Student Lamp and those with double wick burners, we guarantee it to give perfect satisfaction producing a pure flame of great brilliancy. Our facilities for manufacturing are excellent, and equal to any demand, while the price is much lower than that of any oil in the market, of the same character and fire test. The U. S. law in regard to the use of these Oils on passenger steamers is very explicit, as follows:
Any Oil which will stand a Fire Test of Three Hundred (300°) Degrees Fahrenheit, may be carried as freight or used as stores on any steamer carrying passengers.
We beg to offer the following Certificates, which have been handed us from the very best authorities attainable, in regard to the test of the Mineral Coloza Oil, and they may be considered perfectly reliable:

Report of Prof. S. Dana Hayes, Massachusetts State Assayer.
Y.] BOSTON, Mass, Oct. 19th, 1876.
sample of burning Oil, marked Mineral Coloza, manufactured by CHARLES PRATT & Co., of New York City, has been tested by me with the following result: It has a Fire Test of 328° Fahrenheit. It does not ignite under 328° F.
(Signed) S. DANA HAYES, Massachusetts State Assayer.

Report of Inspector of Petroleum Oil, for State of Massachusetts.
Y.] BOSTON, October 4th 1876. have tested samples of Mineral Coloza Oil, CHARLES PRATT & Co., New York City, and the igniting point or Fire Test to be 315° Fahrenheit. (Signed) R. F. MEANS, Mass. State Inspector of Petroleum.

Report on Sample of Mineral Coloza Oil, tested for U. S. Inspector of Steamers 2d District.
Y.] NEW YORK, April 25th, 1876.
ADDISON LOW, U. S. Sub. Inspector.
DEAR SIR: We have tested the sample of Mineral Coloza Oil presented by you, and find it stands Fire Test of 300° Fahrenheit, and we consider it in all respects a very superior Oil.
(Signed) LOCKWOOD, BROS. & HOLLY, Petroleum Inspectors appointed by N. Y. City Produce Exchange.

To the Trade.
The undersigned beg to call your attention to all the above, and thus advise you that they will at all times have a full supply of the above mentioned Oils on hand, and would be pleased to have your orders.

GENERAL NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Israelitish Convention.

NEW YORK, May 29.—At a session of the board of delegates of American Israelites today, the committee on statistics reported, giving the state of charitable institutions, number of newspapers, etc., under Jewish control. Four secret Hebrew Societies were described, showing a membership of 50,000. Simon Wolf, of Washington, vice president of the meeting, read the following letter from Secretary of State Evarts:

WASHINGTON, May 26.

I have to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 21st inst., in relation to hardships, outrages and persecutions of Israelites dwelling in Turkish provinces. In view of the oppression of these unhappy people, and of the dangers to which they are exposed, you appeal to the department to instruct the U. S. ministers and representatives near the seat of the provinces to co-operate, with their colleagues in such measures as may be desired for the relief and protection of Hebrews dwelling in those localities, and you instance especially those in Roumania. Much of the misery that is now being suffered is inseparable from a state of war in which that country is now engaged. The provinces are all more or less under military control, and it is feared ordinary diplomatic protests and representations cannot be made at present as effectually as is wished by all who desire to see right and justice and humanity prevail. In furtherance of justice and humanity, the department will refer a copy of your letter to our Minister at Constantinople, with instructions to take such action in the matter as in his judgment, be best calculated to secure the amelioration of the oppressed people.

I am, etc., WM. M. EVARTS.

New York Centennial.

NEW YORK, May 29.—The President and Vice President, Cabinet officers and Justices of the Supreme Court will be invited to attend the celebration in this city of the Centennial anniversary of the establishment of the New York State government on the 30th July.

McVeigh to Butler.

PHILADELPHIA, May 30.—Wayne Mcveigh has responded to Gen. Butler's ironclad letter to Marshal Pitkin:

Your informant happens to have told you the exact opposite of the truth in every statement respecting me. Gov. Warmoth did not aid me at New Orleans, but was one of the adherents of the Packard government to the end. He did not manage or conduct any kind of business for me. He did not receive any promise from me in respect to any office. I have not asked the President to appoint him, nor so much for that portion of your letter. Where I am known I do not need to deny the story about the use of money, or to declare it to be (as you well know it to be), a base and cowardly lie. For those who do not know, perhaps I ought to add, from any repugnance on my part to such use, there were two practical difficulties in the way of my committing it. I had no money of my own to spare, and it is only a military commander of New Orleans, in time of war, who can safely appropriate any considerable quantity of the property of others to his own use. The fact is that the enemies of reconciliation in Louisiana waste their time in trying to discover or invent some means of bargain with which at once to account for its success and to discredit it. Strange as it may seem to some of them, political results are still attainable in this country by straightforward and honest methods, and the country will judge the result we secured by its fruits in comparison with the fruits of the opposite policy. Comparing the four years to come of honest and lawful government, with the eight years of hatred, intimidation, outrages, corruption, anarchy and murder, therefore, from the assaults of men misguided, and of bad men dis appointed, I appeal to the generous judgment of the American people, and I await their decision upon the merits of our labors in Louisiana, not with misgiving or excuses, but with confidence and pride. Yours truly, WAYNE McVEIGH.

Belligerent Ben and the Interviewers.

NEW YORK, May 30.—Gen. Butler evidently has been reading the history of a certain San Francisco sensational journal and its interviewers. A Herald reporter calling on him last evening was treated thusly after waiting for two hours patiently for an interview:

Butler—Where is this fellow of the press who wants to interview me?

Herald Reporter—(Taking the whole proceeding in view of the General's)—I am the fellow, General. Perhaps you may remember—

Butler—I remember nothing; damn the whole of you. I'll have no interview and I'll—

Reporter—I simply wished to ask you, General, if you have heard of the new party that report says—

Butler—Damn the report: there is no new party. I've had enough of newspaper men. When you go out you will just go down and write three columns of an interview with me that never took place, and I'll be damned if I'll stand it. You are—

Reporter—Spare yourself, General, there is no use of being uneasy about it, you know.

Butler—(Getting red in the face and quite boisterous) I know nothing, and call upon this man (pointing to a gentleman who sat quietly by himself but taking in the situation) I call upon this man as a witness that I never said anything, and if you say—

Reporter—I shall say nothing, Sir, beyond what occurred, but I think—

Butler—Say no more. Leave the room and that's the end of it.

The reporter left with many blasphemous ejaculations in his wake from the statesman of Massachusetts.

A World's interviewer who was waiting his turn thus describes the Herald's repulse:

Presently came a roar as of a wounded bull, and General Butler was heard to say in crescendo tones, "I don't know anything about it; I haven't thought about it; I won't say a word about it; do you hear, now don't go and write two columns of interview about it. I've got a witness here that I haven't said a word about it. Good day, good day. No, I won't say a word about it; good day. I hope I haven't offended you," stammered somebody retreating to the door; "no offense, good day," and there was the sound of a heavily closed door. The secretary and World's reporter laughed. The reporter's laugh was not unmixed with trepidation, but the secretary's was full of malicious glee.

The World's reporter entered. Butler rose from a chair and courteously greeted him.

"I am a little diffident," said the reporter, after the episode of the Herald man about— "He did not say he was a Herald man," said Gen. Butler. "He began talking about some new party and asked me what I thought of it. I told him I did not think of it, but he kept right on talking and I knew that if I didn't stop him there would be two columns of interview with me to-morrow, containing what I didn't say. So I told him I had nothing to say, and he kept right on talking—well, well then he went out."

Butler was kinder to the Sun reporter, to whom he denied emphatically the story that he was going to Colorado to live. He neither owned nor expected to own an inch of land there. He supposed the story originated from the fact that he loaned money to Col. Craig on a mortgage of his Colorado ranch. He also declared his letter to Pitkin was not intended for publication; that he declines to criticise the President's Southern policy, which ought to have a show, and he added—"Let's see how it will do. We can't tell what its effect will be. The murder of Judge Chisholm is connected with the policy only because the people there interpret the President's views of self government as meaning they are to be let entirely alone, and so they commit murders which they would not dare commit if they did not know that the jury that will try them will be taken from the mob that commits them; but let the policy run a while. One thing is certain, the Republican party will not suffer. It watches the result; it is silently watching. If it sees that things are going wrong it will come down with a heavy hand on those who would do wrong. The party is not to be trifled with." He scouted the idea of a new party. None will be made out of the Republican party. He predicted that President Hayes would soon declare in favor of remonetizing silver. Referring to his several former prophesies, which Butler said had been fulfilled, he took credit for great foresight, and said anybody could foresee that. He was such a fool as to go into sheep raising to become a Senator.

The Charleston Delegation Out in the Cold.

COLUMBIA, S. C., May 30.—The House last night by a vote of 66 to 29 refused to admit the Charleston delegation of 17 members, 15 colored and 2 white, including Senator Mackey, of the Chamberlain House.

Pacific Mail Company's Affairs.

NEW YORK, May 30.—The World has Clyde's report on the Pacific Mail Company to be presented to-day. The following are extracts: Although the carrying trade has been much reduced and mostly unprofitable the business of the company has been moderately prosperous. Operating expenses have been greatly reduced. Not a note is outstanding except those held by the Panama Railroad Company directors. The most of the bonds of the company have been sold. The agencies have been placed in the hands of persons of known responsibility and large influence and the business taken by which business upon all the lines is being developed. The company has on hand ample stock of coals, stores and materials in its various depots. Ships have been put in thorough order at an outlay of $1,100,000, which has been charged to the expense account. From earnings and sale of vessels property has been increased to the amount of $219,000. The indebtedness has been reduced, after deducting cash assets from $2,003,078, May 31st, 1874, to $318,020, April 30th, 1877, and since that date has been still further reduced. The company, it is remarked, is the only one left which carries the American flag to numerous foreign ports and whose ships could be used in war, and an appeal is made for government aid.

Pacific Mail Election.

NEW YORK, May 30.—The election of directors of the Pacific Mail took place to-day with the following result: Wm. P. Clyde, Andrew Boardman, Chas. H. Mount, Henry Hart, Edward A. Guinhard, Chas. G. Franklin, Sam'l C. Thompson, Geo. A. Hoyt and Thos. Owen.

The Fight on Tongue River.

CHICAGO, May 29.—Lieut. Gen. Sheridan has a dispatch from Red Cloud agency, confirming the news of the Indian engagement reported last night. Two runners have come in to the agency, giving the particulars of the location, killed and wounded, the same as in the Bismarck dispatch, and saying that Sitting Bull led the band which was attacked.

A Perfect Jury System.

The Chicago Post publishes an account of the drawing of a jury in the Sullivan-Hanford murder trial, which, if true, shows that the jury was organized from gamblers, thieves and burglars, who were promised immunity from the police in return for a verdict of acquittal.

The Tomb Robbers.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 29.—The trial of the Lincoln tomb robbers has begun.

Fire.

DETROIT, May 30.—A fire at Oscoda early this morning destroyed several buildings. Loss not yet ascertained.

Decoration Day.

NEW YORK, May 30.—The observance of Decoration Day is on a more general and more elaborate scale than has heretofore characterized that anniversary. The weather is delightful and the streets are crowded with sightseers. All public buildings, banks and insurance companies are closed, and business almost entirely suspended. National colors are displayed at half mast from hundreds of private residences, the postoffice, city hall, newspaper offices, hotels and almost every boat of the different ferry lines are likewise decked out in bunting, and the shipping of all nations in the harbor display the insignia of mourning from the mast heads. The monument statues of Washington, Lincoln and Lafayette were elaborately decorated.

NEW YORK, May 30.—At Brooklyn there was a general observance of to-day. The city was handsomely decorated with bunting, and the streets crowded with people. Ceremonies held at the tomb of the revolutionary martyrs at Fort Greene, at Cemetery of the Holy Cross and Greenwood. At latter place the arrangements for decoration were very extensive.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—There is a general holiday in the district. All executive departments, district offices and public schools are closed. The principal decoration was at Arlington, which was attended by the President and cabinet. An excursion was made to Charles county, Md., to decorate the Union graves. Many persons went to Richmond, Harper's Ferry, Gettysburg and other places. The decoration of the graves of Confederate dead buried in this vicinity will take place on the 7th of June.

CHICAGO, May 30.—Decoration day here and in the whole northwest was extensively observed.

Pennsylvania Politics.

HARRISBURG, May 29.—The Republican State Central Committee to-day decided to hold the State convention at Harrisburg August 29th.

McVeigh Defending his Work.

PHILADELPHIA, May 29.—Wayne McVeigh, of this city, has addressed a letter to Butler in reply to a letter from the latter to Marshal Pitkin. The letter contradicts many of the statements contained in Butler's communication, particularly with regard to the use of money, and declares he (McVeigh) waits with confidence and pride the judgment of the American people on the labors of the late commission in Louisiana.

Alabama's Peculiar Politics.

Senator Morgan, of Alabama, has written a letter protesting against the prosecution of those who aided in the shameful frauds by which Shelby, Democrat, defeated Harolson, Republican, in a largely Republican district in Alabama. Harolson has been threatened with death if he returns to prosecute his case in court. Morgan says if the President expects support from Southern Democrats he must not countenance the continuation of the prosecution in the courts.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Petitions Stolen.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—It said that some one has taken away the petitions numerously signed asking for the removal of Fred Douglass, U. S. Marshal, and has failed to return them. Consequently they will probably never be presented to the President, as originally intended.

The New Orleans Custom House.

A commission to investigate the New Orleans custom house has been ordered.

The Haytien Ministry.

Alfred C. Anderson, a leading colored man of Hamilton, has filed an application for the position of U. S. Minister to Hayti.

North Carolinians Asking Protection.

CHICAGO, May 30.—The Journal's Washington special says: The protection of the government has been asked in behalf of a large number of citizens of North Carolina, who acted as deputy U. S. marshals during the last Presidential campaign, and who have been indicted for alleged violation of State laws. The State Judge has decided that they are not amenable to State laws. Meantime 200 or 300 Democrats, who have been indicted under United States laws for illicit distilling, want freedom upon a mere promise of behaving in the future.

Chinese Consul in Trouble.

The President will sustain the action of Geo. F. Seward, U. S. minister to China, in suspending from office Mr. Myers, consul general at Shanghai, for instigating the publication of certain libelous stories regarding Seward. Myers will be removed from office.

The Border Troubles.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—The Cabinet to-day determined that a letter should be addressed to the Mexican government by the Secretary of State, notifying that government that it must take immediate steps to prevent raids across the Rio Grande into Texas. Otherwise our military commander in Texas will be instructed to follow the marauders into Mexico and punish them upon that territory.

The Army and Trade.

CHICAGO, May 29.—The Tribune's Washington special says private news from the Mexican border where it is claimed the Mexicans are constantly stealing, represents the reports as grossly exaggerated. Texans are said to want the army there to stir up trade, and army men are willing to keep up the excitement, as it will be an argument against reducing the army.

The action of the cabinet does not involve the question of the formal recognition of the Diaz government, but merely deals with it as the only party that can be addressed. Some weeks must necessarily elapse before a response to our demand can be received; and hence there is not likely to be any immediate invasion of Mexican soil by U. S. troops.

Postal Printing.

The Journal's Washington special says Acting Postmaster General Tyner has awarded the contract for printing postal cards to the American Phototype Co. of New York.

The Postoffice Department will prefer not to send out its advertisements through advertising agents, but to deal with newspapers direct.

Idaho Land Register.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—The President has appointed Edward McTimoney, of the District of Columbia, register of the land office at Boise City, Idaho.

EX-PRESIDENT GRANT IN ENGLAND.

Reception in Liverpool.

LIVERPOOL, May 29.—After visiting various points of interest on the river this morning, Gen. Grant and party were entertained at luncheon by the Mayor in the town hall. Numerous prominent citizens were present. Afterwards, with the Mayor, the party visited the news room and Exchange. The general reception given them on 'Change by the crowd which filled the room was very cordial. He made a brief speech of thanks from the balcony, which was received with reiterated cheering. He will go to Manchester to-morrow and will leave there in the evening for London.

The reception of Grant in England resembles the ovations which monarchs receive from other nations. When the aldermen at Queenstown proposed to present him with addresses it was opposed because Grant had declined to receive the address of the Irish Nation. An Irish Priest on Sunday morning preached a sermon against Grant because he had shown himself a persistent enemy of the Catholic Church.

Liverpool is one scene of gayety to-day, and looks her best. Crowds surround the Adelphi Hotel. Altogether Grant's visit to England promises to be the most important international event since the Prince of Wales' visit to America. Grant said his movements could not be foreshadowed with certainty. He would remain a guest of Minister Pierrepont during his stay in London. He intended to run over to France for the purpose of visiting Minister Washburne in cognito. On his return he will visit Scotland and Ireland and then proceed to Denmark to pass some time with a sister of the wife of Minister Kremer. Thence he will go to Sweeden and Norway, and afterwards to Russia, visiting Switzerland ale in the summer and Spain during the winter.

Further of Grant's Reception.

LONDON, May 30.—Attention to Gen. Grant continues. The government, people and press vie to do him honor with enthusiastic cordiality. The Daily News calls him one of the greatest soldiers living. He was absolute victor in one of the greatest wars known to history. By his skill, tact, indomitable energy and discipline, he succeeded where one who tried before him failed. All other leading journals have equally emphatic articles. The Standard and Post give political significance to his visit as an opportunity to confirm existing good relations between Great Britain and the United States. At the conclusion of a lunch given Grant and wife yesterday by municipal authorities at Liverpool, the mayor followed the invariable toast to the Queen by proposing General and ex-President Grant, distinguished soldier and statesman, present. He said there was no expression to renew the assurance of the cordiality of welcome extended to their guest, or depict how strong was the desire of England to draw still more closely the bonds of friendship between the two great commercial nations of the world, and especially on this occasion to honor the hero of a hundred battles, whose courage and skill challenged their admiration. Grant replied briefly and feelingly, acknowledging his gratification of the constant manifestation of good will towards himself and country, and reciprocating the hope and belief that the bonds of union between the two nations would grow constantly stronger with the lapse of time. He concluded by proposing the health of the Mayoress and ladies of Liverpool. This drew out a toast to Mrs. Grant. During the afternoon the party visited the Exchange where another enthusiastic greeting was extended to Grant who from the gallery briefly thanked the merchants, brokers, etc., for their hospitality. The streets were gaily decorated all day, and thronged by holiday crowds. A public banquet by the Mayor is proposed for the 28th of June, if Grant is able to revisit Liverpool as he promised.

Gen. Grant and party will arrive at London road station at Manchester this morning at 10 o'clock, where they will be received by the mayor and other members of the corporation. The party will proceed in carriages to Sir Joseph Whitworth's machinery and gun factory, the warehouses and office of J. Watts & Co., Assize Court and Royal Exchange, and afterwards proceed to town, where an address will be presented by the city council. General and Mrs. Grant will remain guests of the mayor at the mayoral apartments in the town hall this evening, and will proceed to London to-morrow at noon by special train.

Royal Receptions and Dinners.

LONDON, May 30.—Ex Pesident Grant and wife will dine with the Duke of Wellington, June 2d. The Duke in inviting him said it seemed to him to be a fit thing that Gen. Grant's first dinner in London should be at the Apsly house with the Duke of Wellington. A subsequent invitation from Earl Beaconsfield for the same day, it is said was deferred to a date not yet fixed. The reception will be given the general at Minister Pierrepont's residence on the 6th of June, and dinner and reception at Lord Houghton's on the 7th. He will attend the Ascot races on the 12th of June. On the 10th he will dine at Kensington palace with Princess Louise and the Marquis of Lorne. On the 21st at Minister Pierrepont's with the Prince of Wales, and on the 28th, at Pierrepont's with the Duke of Cambridge. Seven other invitations to dinner by distinguished persons are not accepted, on account of previous engagements. The following invitations have been accepted, but the day is not fixed: to dinner with Earl Derby, to dine with the Queen and attend the Queen's concert and ball at Buckingham Palace, and dinner with the Lord Mayor at Guild Hall. The Prince of Wales has arranged to receive Grant at Marlborough House immediately after his arrival. It is understood the Prince will also give a dinner in his honor, but no day has been fixed.

LONDON, May 30.—The Post says Gen. Grant will take dinner with the Prince of Wales at Mr. Pierrepont's residence on the 21st of June. He will meet the Duke of Cambridge at a similar banquet on the 26th.

Grant's Views of Hayes, et. al.

LIVERPOOL, May 29.—At the reception in this city, Grant was called on for his views on American politics. He declined to give them at length, saying that whatever he said, whether favorable or unfavorable might be misconstrued. Hayes deserved the esteem and confidence of all Republicans while trying his experiment in the South, nothing could be more unpatriotic than a premature quarrel with him on the suspicion that he meant to Johnsonise the Republican party. He commended the personal character of ex-Gov. Chamberlain of South Carolina, and ex-Marshal Packard of Louisiana. The first, he said, was a brilliant scholar, and the second, a man of great ability and honesty. He hoped the experiment of Hayes would disappoint those Republicans who feared general catastrophe.

The general run of Grant's conversation was in recollections of events in his military career. Some one commented upon the failure of Carl Schurz and General Banks in the army. Grant quietly smiling, said, "Don't forget that they commenced at major-generals." He declined to be interviewed on the Eastern question, because any opinion he might express would be unduly magnified. When asked where he would make his home on return from Europe, he said he would prefer Washington, but feared a residence there would expose him to animadversions of which he had so much, and which had made public life so distasteful. He was uncertain where his home would be.

MORE WAR MAPS.—The Pittsburg Dispatch has this on war maps:

When the foreman of a Cleveland paper calliopes down the tin telephone for "more copy," the editor calmly blows the foam back from the edge of a half gallon measure and replies in unruffled tones, "Hammer another Black Sea on the war map, and give it to 'em again."

New York Times: It is safe to infer that the "nigger" will rule Kemper county no longer, now that the family whose head stood up so sturdily for that "black crowd" has been exterminated.

THE WAR IN THE EAST.

Russia will Claim Armenia.

VIENNA, May 29.—Emperor Francis Joseph and the Czar will meet at Harmansted. Count Schouvaloff recently informed Prince Bismarck that Russia, as indemnification for war expenses, would eventually claim Upper Armenia as far as Kars, and excluding Erzeroum so as not to interfere with English interests on the Euphrates, provided England remained neutral.

Wild Rumors.

Wildest rumors are in circulation concerning the condition of affairs at Constantinople. It is said a conspiracy has been discovered against the dynasty with ramifications in the provinces. A court martial is sitting with closed doors. The only certain fact is that Mamoud Hamad Pasha insists upon drafting all the Softas into the army.

Demonstration at Belgrade.

BELGRADE, May 29.—Demonstrations in favor of Russia took place to day. The metropolitan offered prayers for Russian success before the Prince and Princess of Servia and an immense crowd on either hand.

All conservatives and opposition candidates have been elected in the supplementary elections to the Skuptschina.

The Conservatives are the peace party.

Turkey will Admit Foreigners.

LONDON, May 29.—The Post says the Turkish government have decided to admit foreigners to its service. A number of English gentlemen who have had experience in our own army are about to join the Ottoman forces. Among these volunteers is the Hon. W. Drummond.

Danubian Navigation.

The Times' correspondent at Vienna telegraphs as follows: The statement that the Turks have consented to allow the navigation of the Danube as far as Girla is at least premature. In spite of the energetic representations of this government, the Turkish commander at Ada Kalesi still bars the way with his cannon. There is doubtless an excuse for the Turks, as navigation as far as Girla is of advantage only to Servians and Roumanians, but still it scarcely seems wise to risk a serious difference with Austria, and it is hoped better counsels will prevail.

Servians on the War Path.

RAGUSA, May 29.—The anti-Turkish movement in Servia has escaped all control. Prince Milan finding he was becoming dangerously unpopular has been forced to prepare for war despite strong remonstrances of foreign representatives. Alexinatz and other towns on the frontier are being hastily fortified and a speedy resumption of hostilities is regarded as certain.

Servian Help Refused by Russia.

A Belgrade dispatch reports that many volunteer officers, formerly in the Servian army, have returned to Belgrade from Ploiesti, not having been received into the Russian army or Bulgarian legion.

Russia Dissuading from War.

A St. Petersburg dispatch says Russia is discouraging Servia's participation in the war, the policy of Russia being to abstain from revolution, notwithstanding Turkish action in Caucasus.

Rumors of Peace.

The Telegraph's dispatch from Bucharest says: Rumors are current here in political and diplomatic circles respecting the possibility of an arrangement through the mediation of Germany. The fact that Prince Gortschakoff will accompany the Czar is asserted to be a pacific symptom. The impression gains daily that Russia, more than ever, desires a speedy solution of the present complications.

Greek Ministry.

ATHENS, May 29.—M. Comundani has been named by King the to form a ministry.

Arrests.

A party attempting to cross the frontiers in Thessaly has been arrested by order of the government.

Greeks Excited.

LONDON, May 29.—Advices from Athens state there is great excitement among the population of the island of Crete, and patriotic meetings are being held. It has been decided to wait 20 days for an answer from Turkey as to the demand of the people, after which an appeal will be made by the Cretans to the great powers, asking for the appointment of Gladstone, under title of Prince of Crete.

The Report of Ardahan's Recapture.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 29.—No confirmation has been received of the recapture of Ardahan.

Foreigners in Turkey.

Foreign ambassadors have been assured by the Porte that a state of siege will not interfere with the privileges of foreign subjects.

British Fleet Ordered to Sea.

LONDON, May 30.—Dispatches from Plymouth say very unexpected orders were received from the admiralty late Tuesday evening that the channel reserve's squadrons now in Plymouth Sound should proceed to sea as soon as they were ready, without fail. The Thunderer will leave Wednesday morning, destination not announced, but understood to be Gibraltar.

Softas Arrested.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 29.—Newspapers state that among those arrested for participation in the Softa demonstration are Aghaib Effendi, a Consular of State, Ismail Bey, chief of a department in the foreign office, and Ermin Bey, formerly chamberlain to the Sultan, Abdul Aziz, and Kelal Bey and Mouar Bey.

Troublesome Times in Constantinople.

LONDON, May 29.—The Standard's Constantinople (via Athens May 25th) special says: Redif Pasha, minister of war, is now dictator and, for the time, more powerful than ever. Great anxiety prevails among the European population, who fear that during the siege, if news of fresh disasters arrive, there will be a collision between the populace and troops. It is certain disasters must happen. The fall of Ardahan and Bayazid had enabled the Russians to march in two converging lines toward Erzeroum. They have turned Erzeroum and Mukhtar Pasha must either accept battle against vastly superior force or capitulate. If he is beaten Erzeroum must fall, for it is without fortifications and the force there is small.

Cause of Russia's Delay.

NEW YORK, May 16.—The Times' London special says the Russian advance on the Danube has hitherto been postponed partly for diplomatic reasons.

Anglo-Russo—German Interests.

The meeting between Prince Bismarck and Count Schouvaloff ended in Russia asking semi-officially wherein England would consider her interests affected by the Russian advance on Turkey. Derby's reply is stated on private information to have been a summary of the government's points brought out in the recent stormy Parliamentary debate. On this reply Prince Bismarck hopes to base negotiations by which to bring about an understanding between the English and Russian governments. This result is rendered desirable by a strong undercurrent of active animosity in France against Germany which has developed since the ultramontane coup d'etat in the former nation. Germany proposes to form an alliance with Italy against ultra montane dictation, and Prince Bismarck is working hard to prevent an alliance between the governments and France, but there is a well known understanding existing between Germany and Russia in regard to the Eastern war.

Motley, the Historian, Dead.

LONDON, May 30.—J. Lathrop Motley, the American historian, died yesterday.

The Peace Rumor.

LONDON, May 30.—The Times and News Bucharest dispatches reiterate the statement that peace rumors are in circulation.

Railway Casualty.

Several persons were killed yesterday by a railway accident near Ploist.

The Caucasian Insurgents.

MANCHESTER, May 30.—A special from Vienna to the Guardian says messages from St. Petersburg, denying that the Caucasian insurrection has any influence on the campaign, should not be accepted as representing the real situation. When the Caucasian chief, Chamyl, in 1854, with 16,000 Tschetshenes, descended into the Koor valley, the Russians were compelled to evacuate Bayazid and all their positions, and retire to Tiflis. They also abandoned their expedition to Afghanistan. The present rebellion at last blocks their sole communication between Whadikus and Tiflis.

Change of the Austrian War Minister.

VIENNA, May 30.—There are rumors that the present Austrian minister of war is about to be replaced by Herr W. Molinary governor of Cretia, and a leading member of the Slav military party that advocates the annexation of Bosnia and Herzegovina to Austria.

War Gifts.

Over 5,000,000 rubles have been raised in Russia for war purposes by voluntary contributions.

The Porte will Draft the Christians.

LONDON, May 30.—A dispatch from Constantinople states that the Porte has made levies upon the Christians for two hundred thousand troops.

General War Notes.

The Times' Bucharest dispatch contains the following: Turkish camps at Nikopolis have been removed behind the hills. This is believed to be the prelude to the bombardment of Lurnumegurelj. Roumanians think the Turkish monitors are placing torpedoes along the southern side of the river.

A special to the Daily News from Krajova commenting on the state of the Roumanian army, says between Kupereeni and Cetate there are thirty thousand soldiers. They are in excellent physical condition and perfectly equipped, armed, and have more than the ordinary proportion of artillery. With a definite scheme of action and complete accord with Russians very interesting intelligence may be presently expected from the Widdin-Kalafat section of the theater of war.

Whilst Prince Charles was passing through Krajova a deputation of citizens greeted him amid great enthusiasm with shouts of "Long live the King of Roumania."

A Vienna dispatch says Coardia was shelled eight hours Monday. Nine sailing ships were destroyed, also a steamer of the Austrian Danube Navigation Co.

The Scherif of Mecca has placed the treasures of the Holy Shrine, the accumulated money gifts from pilgrims, at the Sultan's disposal. The treasures aggregate 200,000,000 piastres.

The route of the Czar's journey is purposely left undecided, because the disasters on railways in Roumania are, it is feared, owing to some conspiracy. Strict investigation has been ordered.

A News correspondent at Vienna asserts that the council of war at Constantinople resolved to treat operations in Caucasus as of paramount importance. Five thousand Circassians are ready for embarkation. Seven thousand men are intended for Alapa. The ships conveying them will take divers to pick up torpedoes at the entrance of the sea of Azof.

Mukhtar Pasha has been placed under control of Djeli Pasha, who was officially sent from Constantinople.

VIENNA, May 29.—A detachment of troops is concentrated south of Sookgoom Kale to prevent a Turkish and Circassian force from going alongside into the plains of Mingrelia, and thereby rendering the position of the Russian troops in rear of Sookgoom Kale and Adeler untenable.

LONDON, May 29.—Special from Kalafat says a movement of Turkish troops is observed in the direction of Timalax and Widdin. The Servian commander at Negotian telegraphs there is apparent concentration about Velika and Isevort.

Servians are claiming the free passage of the steamer Deligrad past Ardakah and are mounting guns at Sakir to give their protestations weight with the Turks.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 30.—Heavy rains, both on the Danube and in Caucasus, delay Russian operation. Advices from Tiflis to the 29th inst., mention only reconnoissances and unimportant cavalry encounters.

War Feeling in England and Europe Generally.

CHICAGO, May 30.—The Times' London special says:

The signs of England taking a hand in the war accumulate. The Times' correspondent at Berlin gives a sketch of the negotiations going on between England and France. Bismarck's sudden appearance in Berlin was caused by an inkling that the MacMahon coup d'etat was the result of an understanding between the Tory Government and De Broglie, that in the event of France joining England for the establishment of the treaty of Paris certain ulterior considerations should be assured to France. These considerations the Berlin cabinet are represented as knowing are a restoration of Alsace and Lorraine. Confirmatory of this programme the English war presses which at first saluted MacMahon's revolution with virulent malignity, have assumed a new tack and are now extolling the moderation and conservatism of the monarchical conspirators. All attempts to drag the late Republican ministry into an alliance with Austria or England were ineffectual. The Republicans confident of strength in the country refused to plunge the country into war; Simon going so far as to say that France must now pursue the policy of England and grow rich on the misfortunes of her neighbors. In Austria preparations are active. In Germany the landstrum has been ordered out under the pretense of reorganization. It is a body which has not been in the field since 1812. Under cover of establishing an equilibrium of forces on the Rhine, Bismarck and Moltke give out that the frontier posts are to be regarrisoned to prevent a surprise on the part of France.

Editorially, every paper in London urges England to prepare to defend its interests in the East. The generality of the press say that if Turkey sues for peace within the next two weeks, England must check the Russian advance. The Liberals, hoping to stay the strong tide for war, have organized a monster meeting for Gladstone at Birmingham, where anti-war declarations are to be put forth as a last resort. Inquiries as to the strength of the land and naval forces and the number of guns abound on all sides. The complete cessation of traffic on the Danube, Black Sea and Suez Canal, and even with Russia, is felt in every form of business. The merchants of the marine have begun to take precautions in the event of a sudden declaration. Commerce on the Suez Canal is compelled to pay war risks. The English fleet stationed on both ends of that channel is ready for action. The British representative in Egypt is constantly warning the government that the vital interests of British subjects are imperiled and trade wholly destroyed. The vast commerce with India is paralyzed, and the cereal trade is utterly annihilated. More alarming than this, the Mussulman population of India, restive under the apparent delay, demand to be sent to aid their Mussulman brethren, arrayed under the Banner of the Prophet. Every condition, industrial, diplomatic and otherwise, pushes the nation forward in spite of the strong opposition from the Liberal leaders and the strong feeling from the Liberal party.

Telegrams from Vienna, Berlin and Paris represent the cabinets of these countries as hopeless of preventing a general collision. A cautious, well-informed member of parliament for a metropolitan district is responsible for the assertion that, if put to vote to-morrow, his constituency would demand instant war for the preservation of British interests.

THE TURF.

Louisville Races.

LOUISVILLE, May 29.—The largest crowd ever assembled on the Louisville course witnessed Ten Broeck's effort to beat the best two mile time on record. His companion for the first mile was St. Louis, and for the second mile Nelly Hall. He was ridden by Walker, his jockey, and made the distance in 3:27½, five seconds better than True Blue's, and three seconds quicker than McWhirter's yesterday. There was an extraordinary scene of enthusiasm and delight at the close of this event.

The second race, mile dash for three year olds, Dauk won, Mahletec second, George Ham third. Gentleman's cup, mile and eighth, Leamingtonian won, Kilbourne second, time, two minutes. For the next race, mile heats, Grit had a walk over. The last race, mile and eighth, Mahletec won, Grit second, time 1 57.

The City of Brussels Passengers.

LIVERPOOL, May 29.—The passengers of the City of Brussels have landed; all well. Deputations from Liverpool Catholic Societies went out in two tugs to welcome the pilgrims. A large crowd cheered and congratulated the passengers on the landing stage. The pilgrims were conducted to the Adelphi hotel to be entertained by the Catholic club. Te Deum will be sung at the Cathedral. The pilgrims will then proceed directly to Rome.

Pilgrimages Prohibited.

MADRID, May 29.—The government has decided to forbid pilgrimages or religious manifestations, which may form a pretext for Carl st propagande.

Spain and the Vatican.

The government in Madrid, in view of the antagonism shown by a section of the episcopal clergy towards it, have made representation to the Vatican to resist the authority to issue le recalcitrants from creating embarrassments.

Victor Emanuel and the Pope.

A special from Rome says King Victor Emanuel has written to the Pope congratulating him on the approaching anniversary of his elevation to the Episcopate. The Pope sent a reply thanking the King and taking occasion to beg him not to permit the Italian government to despoil the parishes and confraternities of their property more; that otherwise he should be constrained to protest. The King has made no reply to the Pope's missive.

ROME, May 29.—In consequence of President McMahon's recent action, Italian Republicans have placarded the streets of Rome with notices of a great demonstration at the Appolo Theater, on the 31st inst., to declare that Rome can never again become the Rome of the Pope.

France and the Pope.

ROME, May 29.—It is stated that MacMahon has written the Pope expressing confidence that, in the serious position in which France now stands, his holiness would continue that benevolence he had always manifested.

MacMahon will Hold On.

PARIS, May 30.—The Moniteur declares MacMahon will not resign in any event.

The Lion's Share.

PARIS, May 29.—Bonapartists get the lion's share of appointments under the new ministry. This is causing considerable uneasiness and suspicion among Legitimists.

The Under Current in France.

PARIS, May 30.—Despite the superficial appearance of tranquility, French public sentiment continues unrelentingly hostile to MacMahon's reactionary proceedings. The president himself is evidently alarmed by the strength and depth of popular feeling, but his paraphrase of Napoleon's declaration that "the Empire is peace," will only increase the general suspicion and discontent. Unless he retraces his steps and appoints a soundly Republican cabinet, it is only a question of time when he must accept the alternative of overthrow by armed revolution or by votes at a general election.

Thiers to the Front.

PARIS, May 30.—Republicans, under the advice of Gambetta, accept Thiers as their leader. They propose to have the next electoral canvass under Thiers' name, to which Thiers consents.

Reinforcement of French Garrisons.

BERLIN May 30.—Orders issued to-day designate, three battalions of infantry and four batteries of artillery to reinforce Metz and Strasburg, and a battalion of rifles will be stationed at Severne.

THE KEMPER BUTCHERY.

Letter from Mrs. Chisholm.

NEW YORK, May 29.—The Times' Washington special says Mrs. Chisholm writes to a friend in Washington, furnishing additional details of the Kemper butchery. She says:

My husband was murdered for no cause except loyalty to the flag which he thought would protect all citizens. Gilmer was murdered on the street on his way to deliver himself to the sheriff. He was held by one of his guards while shot by his son-in-law. McClellan was an old gray haired man and a British subject. He often assured me he could not become a naturalized citizen because the United States was not strong enough to protect its citizens. Knowing he could neither be bought or frightened the sheriff called him down and delivered him unarmed to the mob, who dispatched him, firing two loads into his head after he was dead. This I know of myself. My boy, with his hand shot off, turned quickly and placed his shoulder to the door which the mob was breaking open with axes and iron bars. At this time I was on the outside, having gone home a short time previously by direction of my husband. Putting my hand through the grating, I implored my boy to leave. My son, Clay, caught him in his arms and ran behind a large iron cage, but before Clay could spring back to his place against the door, Johnnie cried out: "Oh! my father," and sprang between his father and Rosser, who, he saw was in the act of shooting him. Rosser placed his gun at the heart of my boy, and fired its contents into his body. At that instant my husband obtained the only loaded gun there, which had been brought from our house and killed Rosser. When I put my head through the grating I saw Cornelia fainting, and rubbing her face, I told her for her father's sake to rally. She gathered her little dead brother in her arms and ran behind the cage. After the lock had been chopped off the door, I sprang aside to give the alarm that the mob had fired the jail. My daughter's face was covered with blood from wounds caused by a shot which had rebounded after striking the iron bars. I told my husband to fight his way through, not knowing then that the guns which had been left by the guards had been loaded with powder only by the sheriff. With Clay's assistance I carried Johnnie's dead body down stairs through the hall to the outside door. Turning I saw a renewal of attack and my husband coming down with our daughter's arm around his waist. At this time old Henry Gully was at the door. I urged him back, holding the door with both hands. He put his gun through the grating, and Cornelia throwing her arms around her father's neck and told Gully to kill her and spare her father. Gully placed the gun within a few inches of her and fired, her arm receiving the contents of both barrels. Another gun was handed Gully by a boy, which he fired and shot my husband. Phil. Gully ran up with a club, but another shot finished him and he fell exclaiming, "My precious wife, I die innocent. My entire family murdered, but if any of my children live I want them to know I have never done an act nor harbored a thought which would make them blush." Clay tried to stand between him and his murderers while Cornelia and I ran to the door to obtain help to carry my husband home. Blood was running from Cornelia's shattered arm which she held and begged for help. The answer was a shot which struck her leg. By this time about 25 of the crowd ran in. I hastened back to where my husband lay and seized a gun. The leader started back and fired a shot at me. I then fired at him and the crowd fled. Again my son and myself with the assistance of one of the demons who assisted in killing my husband, carried him home. We were pursued by the mob to our gate. Cornelia kept her bleeding body between us and them. Arriving at home I found the servants had fled with the keys, and we had to force the window open, through which we climbed. A kind negro brought my dead boy home but was afraid to remain.

Mrs. Chisholm then describes her efforts to relieve the sufferings and dress the wounds of her husband and daughter, and concludes as follows:

My own unhappy family is now reduced to myself and two little sons. Clay is watched and threatened. I have been warned that my life is in danger. My heart is broken.

In connection with the murderer of McLellan, a Scotchman, who was called upon by the sheriff to perform some duty, the report prevails that the British legation here will institute inquiries with reference to the killing, and if the facts warrant it a formal demand will be made for the arrest and punishment of his murderers.

LOSS OF THE SAN FRANCISCO.

Details of the Wreck.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 30.—The San Diego correspondent of the California Associated Press telegraphs as follows at 2 P. M.: The Pacific Mail steamer Costa Rica has just dropped her anchor. She has on board 137 passengers of the San Francisco. Mr. Moses Sargent, brother of Senator Sargent, gives the following details:

The City of San Francisco left Panama May 11th, 4:30 A. M., with 137 passengers, 46 cabin and 91 steerage, and 100 officers and crew. The value of the cargo was three quarters of a million, consisting of silks, velvets, laces, etc. On Wednesday morning, May 16th, the day bright, atmosphere clear, at 9:18 a peculiar indescribable tremor was felt, the ship having struck upon an unknown danger, cutting into her hull the length of sixty feet; the water rushing in with fearful velocity. The ship was then six miles southwest from Tartar shoals and thirty miles from shore. The captain having known by observation her position at 8 o'clock. The danger upon which she struck is not on any chart, but a document sworn to before the U. S. consul at Acapulco by one Perer and witnessed by Wm. Lund of the gunboat Mexico, deposes that said Perer is perfectly conversant with rocks extending from Point Maldonadocia in a southwest direction; sharp pointed and covered with four or five fathoms of water, extending in nearly a straight line southwest to a distance of 12 to 14 miles from land, and that he has fished for turtles frequently there. The ship was at once turned towards the shore, gradually sinking. A full head of steam was on when she grounded on a sandbank at 10:20 A. M., fortunately three compartments not bursting. The captain and his officers were cool, calm and clear-headed. As soon as the ship struck orders were given to get the boats ready and life preservers on, as the danger of sinking was most imminent. Soundings between the reef and sandbank showed 5½, 7½, 20 and 22 fathoms water and no bottom. During the fearful interval while evidently sinking, not a cry was heard from the passengers. There was little confusion, but silent anxious waiting, although there were 137 passengers, 20 of them small children and many young men never before at sea. The boats started for shore, 30 miles away. Not a passenger was allowed a pound of baggage of any kind, and on reaching shore each boat was overturned and the passengers thrown in the surf—a scene never to be forgotten. Kind Providence preserved every life, and all were safe on the Mexican shore. Fortunately a stream of fresh water was found in a gorge between the mountains where, with the stars for a covering and roots and branches of trees for mattresses, all slept. The captain at once sent one of the officers to Acapulco, 30 miles distant, but fortunately the boat fell in with the gunboat Mexico, and although under orders to get provisions for a besieged city, the inhabitants starving for food, the captain at once steamed off to the relief of the shipwrecked. They were all taken off safely, crowding the deck of the gunboat and next day transferred to the Pacific Mail steamer Costa Rica, Capt. Whiteberry, commanding. The officers and crew of the U. S. ships Lackawanna and Pensacola acted most nobly, supplying the passengers with clothing from their private wardrobes, the U. S. ships taking up subscriptions to a large amount for distribution among the women and children, who were entirely destitute. Capt. Waddell and officers behaved splendidly—brave, humane, unselfish. Capt. Waddell says seven steam pumps lifting 160 barrels of water per minute were absolutely useless. The whole bottom is out of the steamer. He has steamed over the spot repeatedly and the only conjecture is that the late earthquake which was manifest on the coast by tidal wave may have upheaved a submarine rock. In one hour and two minutes the ship was under the waves. She was going at four knots when she struck. The captain was on the bridge an hour before the steamer struck, and timed everything by his watch. Twenty minutes after she struck the fires were out. In that 20 minutes she was running in shore under a full head of steam and ran 42 minutes making a distance of 9 or 10 miles, and there grounded in 30 feet of water on a sand bottom.

The next morning a foot of the stern was seen out of water with the wheel. The whole body of the ship was submerged and the mizzen mast was gone. The baggage of passengers, furniture, etc., is constantly floating ashore during the day. The money of passengers in the purser's hands, the ship's money and all baggage are totally lost. It was a run for life. From interviews with many passengers I find that there is a unanimous sentiment of the warmest feeling toward the commander and officers. Every man says emphatically that the officers could have done no more. They did all that men could do. The captain declares that his officers and men stood to their duty nobly and he had none but heroes on board. In the boat, drilled men-of-warsmen could not have acted with more fidelity. Capt. Waddell, Purser Jerome, Mr. L. B. Parrott, E. Ascoll, J. Stewart, and K. Sutton go up overland, taking a conveyance, and proceeding by rail from Anaheim. The Costa Rica remains to take on board coal, and will probably not get away from here until to-morrow morning. She expects to arrive at San Francisco on Monday.

CANADA.

Fire.

MONTREAL, May 30.—Another disastrous fire occurred this morning by which about sixty houses were destroyed, and about the same number of families rendered homeless. The fire broke out in Conroy's stable situated on Dalhousie street in Griffintown. A high wind was blowing at the time, and the flames spread with lightning rapidity, and communicated to Espline's lumber yard and planing mill. In the rear an immense quantity of lumber was stored on Espline's premises, and the flames soon spread into the surrounding streets which contained small wooden houses.

The fire on Williams, Duke, Dalhousie and Nazareth streets took a whole block of light wooden tenement houses. A better tinder box could not be found. Maxwell's planing mill then took fire, and a change in the wind shifted the flames over to the eastern side of the street, and also in the direction of William street. It cut its way through to Ottawa street, licking up flimsy houses in its advance, and only stopped at Nazareth street, where the firemen made a determined fight to arrest the progress of the flames. Loss, $150,000. The fire was got under control about 4 o'clock this morning. The greatest destruction was done in Nazareth street, but Duke, William, Ottawa and Dalhousie streets also suffered severely. Many of the people burnt out are in poor circumstances and are mostly uninsured.

Public Debt Statement.

NEW YORK, May 30.—The Times' Washington special says the May debt statement will present a very favorable showing. The debt will be reduced for the month about $6,500,000, making an aggregate reduction for eleven months of the fiscal year of about $55,000,000, which includes $10,000,000 received from the Geneva award fund and covered into the Treasury. The coin balance, exclusive of $5,000,000 received from the sale of bonds under the resumption act will be over one hundred millions, of which about forty-eight millions are coin certificates. The currency balance including the amount held to redeem fractional currency will be upward of thirteen millions. Customs receipts will be about eleven millions, and internal revenue receipts about thirteen millions. The amount of legal tenders retired during the month for additional circulation issued to national banks was one million eighty one thousand. About one half of the seven million due for pensions the first of June has been disbursed this month.

POLITICAL DRIFT.

Jere Haralson of Alabama, was born a slave in Muscogee county, Ga., in 1846, was sold on the auction block at Columbus in that State, and was taken to Selma, Alabama, where he was emancipated in 1865 by the "tyranny" that overthrew the peculiar institution, subdued the rebellion, and wiped out the resolutions of '98. He is a very intelligent man, has served creditably in both branches of the Alabama legislature, and in 1874 was elected to Congress from the Selma district by a very large majority. In 1876 he was defeated by a system of the most gross and shameless frauds. Large numbers of his supporters were prevented from going to the polls. In many places the ballots thrown for him were taken from the boxes and destroyed, and those of his opponent substituted. In short, all the approved methods by which elections are carried by the opposition in the Republican districts of the South were employed against Haralson, and he was "defeated," of course. The returns were worked up to show a change of nearly ten thousand votes in the district, and Haralson is now quietly informed that if he goes back to Alabama he may expect assassination. The State is now at peace, and they propose to have no more political agitation. As if this were not sufficient, Senator Morgan of Alabama writes a letter in which he says he will not support the policy of the administration unless the President uses his influence to prevent a legal investigation under the statutes of the United States of the manner in which the election was conducted, and to put an end to the prosecution of those who bulldozed the district. Of course the President can't do this, and therefore he must make what shift he can without the support of Senator Morgan. This letter is of a piece with the petition that came up from South Carolina not long ago "invoking the clemency of the President in behalf of prisoners now held to answer charges of riot and murder in the late political struggle." It is evident enough that those who carried the elections consider the methods by which they did it perfectly justifiable. Some weeks ago the announcement that the whole delegation from Charleston was to be expelled from the legislature of South Carolina was received by the Democratic press of the North with incredulity. It was declared to be a "partisan falsehood;" Hampton's honorable associates would not commit so flagrant a wrong. But it is now announced that the act is consummated. Seventeen members, elected by an average majority of six thousand votes, are expelled. For such an act there can be but a single object. It is just as well to understand that the sole purpose in all the Southern States is to consolidate their political power. It puts an end to all hopes that we shall be rid of sectional politics. A solid South will as surely make a solid North as a result follows an efficient cause.

DEATH OF MOTLEY.

Since 1856, when his history of the Rise of the Dutch Republic was given to the world, John Lothrop Motley has been considered one of the most eminent men of letters of the time. The three volumes of this work, followed by the four volumes of the History of the United Netherlands, completed in 1868, form a narrative of one of the most important series of transactions in human history. To English readers it was a portion of history little known, though to English speaking races this is a period of greatest interest, as it contains the seeds from which much of that liberty grew which they enjoy, and which is peculiarly our heritage in so remarkable a degree in America. It is the general judgment of the literary world that no historical period has been illuminated by the pen of industry and genius more brightly than this one has been by the labors of Motley, and his great work, rapidly translated into nearly all the languages of Europe, became at once a standard authority and will so remain. Following these seven volumes are the two containing the history of John of Barneveld, the great advocate of Holland; but still the historian was as yet only on the threshold of his work. All he had done was preliminary to a History of the Thirty Years' War, for which he has long been collecting materials. How far this work has proceeded the public does not know. The announcement of the author's death is a reminder at once that he is gone before we have the completion of the work which would have been a possession for the world.

Motley was born at Dorchester, Mass., April 15, 1814. Graduating at Harvard in 1831, he subsequently spent two years in study at universities in Germany. After travelling through most of the countries of Europe he returned to the United States in 1836, and undertook the profession of the law. In this he did little. Within the next few years he produced a couple of novels and many review articles. Becoming interested in Holland he embarked for Europe in 1851 to gather materials, and within five years had ready for publication the first division of his history. Its success was immediate and great. It, as well as his subsequent works, received on all sides the highest encomiums. In England and Holland it was more warmly praised, if possible, than in the United States.

From 1861 to 1867 he was United States Minister to Austria. Subsequently he was Minister to England. His recall from this last position by President Grant will long be remembered as one of the most censurable acts of that administration. No single act of Grant's was so severely criticised. To supersede a man with such a reputation by the appointment of a coarse and common politician was really a great offense. It was the main cause of the rupture between President Grant and Senator Sumner.

Motley's page has not the beauties of Prescott's; his style is not so smooth, luminous and attractive, but it is powerful in earnestness, never deficient in vigor, and always firmly holds the attention. The first thought of every person on reading the announcement of his death will be one of regret that the world has not his History of the Thirty Years' War.

EXTRAVAGANT BUILDINGS.

It will be remembered that the New York legislature was mobbed the other day because it refused to pass over the Governor's veto a further appropriation for the State capitol building at Albany. In vetoing the appropriation for another million dollars for this work the Governor said:

> The new capitol is a great public calamity. At its commencement, the people of the State were assured that it would be completed for $4,000,000. There have already been expended upon it $7,723,695 16. No reliance can be placed on any estimate which can be obtained as * he cost of completing it. There is no ility that it can be fully finished ac- to the original plans for less than 000,000 to $20,000,000. If the tax- the State had not been deceived, if pposed that the whole expendi- reach what it has already reached, it is not likely that they would ever have permitted the commencement of the work. It is without a parallel for extravagance and folly.

Oregon has a new capitol on her hands which ought not to have been undertaken for the next fifteen years. To complete it is beyond the power of the State for years to come, and it stands an unsightly pile, to be "a monument of an extravagance and folly" of as great proportions for Oregon as the Albany capitol is for New York, when the resources of the two States are relatively considered. In fact New York can easier build a capitol costing fifteen or twenty millions than Oregon can build one costing three-quarters of a million. Ours is far larger than is needed; the whole vast area of the lower part is entirely useless. The New York Governor states the case with accuracy and force when he says that public buildings exceeding so far the public requirements, are the outgrowth of a vicious system of finance and of the folly and madness which accompanied it a few years ago.

Nothing more shocking than Mrs. Chisholm's recital of the Mississippi horror, including the murder of her own husband and children, has ever been presented in the long catalogue of criminal violence in the South. Men who would murder a boy of thirteen and a heroic girl who were trying to protect their father, show an insensibility to pity and to kindred emotions of humanity inferior even to that of professional assassins; and it is an awful comment of the state of society in that locality that these murderers will not be punished. The community protects them because it hates the principal victim for his politics. No indictments, therefore, will be presented, and if there were a law of the United States to reach the crime, we should have Senators and Governors protesting against its enforcement on the ground that such action would be "political persecution;" while the President would be informed that he "need not expect Southern support for his policy," unless such proceeding were stopped.

Contemporary opinion is not always a just measure of a man; yet it cannot be doubted that it is of real value. It seldom is far wrong. Gen. Grant's reception in Europe is significant. Has America undervalued her greatest soldier? Do our people not appreciate his eminence as an historical character? In some degree it was temporarily unfortunate for his fame that he engaged in politics. But his political errors will soon be forgotten. In truth they are nearly forgotten already. The trifles of party contention soon pass away, but the fact that he twice received the highest honors that his country can confer will remain in history to crown his fame as the greatest soldier of the republic. It is the fashion to say that Gen. Grant is not a great man. But he will be judged by his achievements and his success. So Europe is judging him now, and partisan detraction is utterly harmless against a fame that is world-wide.

We believe there is a representative from Oregon in the Presbyterian General Assembly now sitting at Chicago. It is to be wished that he had risen Monday when the committee's report came in, and informed that body that there is not a general failure of crops on the Pacific coast; that California is the only sufferer, and that in Oregon and adjacent Territories there never was such promise of abundant crops. California is not the entire Pacific coast; in natural resources that State is not the half of it, and every opportunity ought to be improved to enlighten the country upon these facts. It would be very proper to do it, on occasion, in a religious body.

Philadelphia correspondence of the New York Times declares that the masses of the Republican party in Pennsylvania are discontented and indignant toward the administration, and "protest earnestly against the policy which dictated abandonment of the Southern Republicans." The discontent, the writer asserts, "is wide spread, and there is not a little danger that it will affect the fall election." This letter, written May 14th, says further, that the Republican State convention would be postponed till the end of summer in the hope that the feeling would grow better; and dispatches now announce that this has been done.

Gen. Beauregard sympathizes with the Turks, and has written a letter to that effect. It is stated by a Louisville paper that the Prince of Roumania in 1866 tendered to Beauregard, who was then in Paris, the command of the Roumanian armies, with the rank of Field Marshal and a salary of $100,000 a year. This is a very improbable statement. Beauregard was not the man to reject so fine an offer, and there was no reason then why Roumania should want him.

McVeigh is glad the government of Louisiana is turned over to the Democrats. His language implies that the Republicans have done a great wrong during the last eight years in endeavoring to hold the State. The consistent thing for the Louisiana commissioner to do is to announce himself a Democrat.

The delinquent tax list of Cook county, Illinois (including Chicago), is published in the Inter-Ocean, and makes 196 pages of that paper. Now the I.-O. will brag of having issued the biggest paper that ever appeared.

In New York civil service reform is making real progress; but Oregon is so far off that the reform "gets very thin," as a friend says, "before it reaches here."

Mrs. Hayes won't let the female Washington correspondents come in and overhaul her wardrobe and get descriptions of her underwear, and now they are disappointed in the present administration.

OFFICE OF INSURANCE COMMISSIONER,
San Francisco, Feb. 5, 1877.

I, J. W. Foard, hereby certify that I am Insurance Commissioner of the State of California, and have supervision of insurance business in the State, and as such Commissioner, further certify that the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company of California is a corporation properly organized under the laws of this State, and being in a solvent condition and possessed of a paid up capital of One Hundred Thousand Dollars, equal to Gold Coin of the United States, is authorized to do business in the State. And I further certify that, upon a personal examination of the books and papers of the said company at the close of the year eighteen hundred and seventy-six, its statement as of this date, and now on file in this office, was shown to be correct and true, the company being possessed of good, valid assets amounting to one million two hundred and sixty-four thousand eight hundred and thirty-six dollars and eighty-six cents* $1,264,836 86), and having outstanding liabilities, as defined by the laws of the State, amounting to nine hundred and sixteen thousand seven hundred and fifty dollars and five cents ($916,750 05), exclusive of the Capital Stock.

(L.S.) As witness my hand and official seal, the day and year first above written.
J. W. FOARD,
Insurance Commissioner.

[Extract from Report of A. D. Smith, ex-Deputy Insurance Commissioner.]

J. G. EDWARDS, Publisher Coast Review,
Dear Sir:—In pursuance of your request I have made an examination of the Assets and Liabilities of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company of California, as they existed on the 31st day of December, 1876, as shown by the books and papers of the Company, and as a result of such examination I beg to report as follows:

* * * * * * * *

Total Assets, Gold		$1,281,817 59
Re-insurance Reserve, American Experience, 4½ per ct.	$880,031 49
Claims for Death Losses	27,700 00
Due on Account Salaries and Rents	1,019 02
Total Liabilities, Gold		916,750 51
Net surplus to Policy-holders, Gold		$365,097 08
Company's paid-up Capital	$100,000 00

The above is, I believe, a true and fair statement of the Company's condition Dec. 31, 1876.

In conclusion, I beg to say that I found the Company's business thoroughly systematized—its books and papers in excellent condition and neatly kept. Every facility was extended to me by all the officers and employees of the Company to enable me to make my examination thorough. Books, papers, and accounts were freely exhibited to me. There was no attempt to hold back or conceal anything. I am satisfied the Company courts the most rigid scrutiny. For courteous treatment, I beg to return thanks to the officers and attaches of the Company.
Respectfully submitted, A. D. SMITH.
San Francisco, February 5, 1877.

*Commissioner Foard excludes items of assets not admitted under the laws of California, amounting to $17,010 73.

CITY.

THEODORE IS COMING.—Just think of i egon is emerging from her native obsc and can soon put on as extensive airs a of her big sisters. At length the ou world has discovered the misty land w showers so long and so lovingly linger. "craps," pretty women, and big red a have won the day. In the operatic lin have recently had Urso, whose marve manipulation of twisted feline intestin our people by the boots, and De Murska could wrestle so successfully with high say nothing of lesser luminaries. But n brilliant meteor is soon to shoot athwar intellectual horizon of Webfoot, and a the whole country from its lethargy like thousand galvanic batteries turned loos at once. Theodore is coming. We hav ceived the following note from Sacran under date of 27th inst., written by th vance agent, which does the whole busin "Should nothing transpire to change present arrangements, I shall bring the brated lecturer Theodore Tilton to Port on or about the 15th prox. Mr. Til reputation as a lecturer is a sufficient gu tee to ensure a paying business on the no ern coast." CITY.

Theodore is Coming.—Just think of it! Oregon is emerging from her native obscurity and can soon put on as extensive airs as any of her big sisters. At length the outside world has discovered the misty land where showers so long and so lovingly linger. Good [illegible] pretty women, and big red apples have won the day. In the operatic line we have recently had Urso, whose marvelous manipulation of twisted feline intestine got our people by the boots, and De Murska, who could wrestle so successfully with high C, to say nothing of lesser luminaries. But now a brilliant meteor is soon to shoot athwart the intellectual horizon of Webfoot, and arouse the whole country from its lethargy like four thousand galvanic batteries turned loose all at once. Theodore is coming. We have received the following note from Sacramento under date of 27th inst., written by the advance agent, which does the whole business: "Should nothing transpire to change my present arrangements, I shall bring the celebrated lecturer Theodore Tilton to Portland on or about the 15th prox. Mr. Tilton's reputation as a lecturer is a sufficient guarantee to ensure a paying business on the north-west coast." With the certain prospect of a good grain and potato crop, exemption from the grasshopper raid and the Bashi Bazouk unpleasantness, and the promised visit of Theodore, Oregon will enjoy honor enough for one day at least, to put it in a modest sort of a way.

Death of Johnny Holton.—Mr D Holton, received the sad intelligence yesterday from [illegible], of the death of his brother Johnny. He departed this life yesterday morning at five o'clock at San Rafael, California, after a long and painful illness. Deceased was taken last fall with severe hemorrhage of the lungs, and acting upon medical advice, he sought the milder skies and balmier air of the Golden State, in the hope of recuperation of his shattered constitution, and restoration to health. But change failed to bring to the invalid realization of his hopes. He continued to slowly decline and yesterday quietly passed away to that dim and shadowy realm beyond. Deceased was about 35 years of age. His younger brother Tommy was with him at the time of his death, who will place the remains in a casket and accompany them to Binghamton, New York, to which place they will be forwarded for interment. Deceased was well known throughout this State, having resided in Portland for a number of years, and many friends will learn with pain of his death. Like all the rest of the human family, he had his foibles, but who of us is free from faults? He had generous and noble traits of character, was a manly, frank and genial fellow, possessed of a kind heart, and willing hand ever ready to help those in trouble. His death will create a vacancy which will long be felt, and the memory of poor Johnny will ever be cherished by those who knew him best.

REMEMBRANCE OF THE DEAD.

DECORATION DAY—IMPRESSIVE CEREMONIES AT LONE FIR CEMETERY—PROCESSION, MUSIC, ADDRESSES AND FLORAL TRIBUTES—PERPETUATING THE MEMORY OF DEPARTED LOVED ONES.

No more shall the war cry sever,
  Or the winding river be red
They banish forever our anger,
  When they laurel the graves of our dead
Under the sod and the dew
  Waiting the judgment day
Love and tears for the blue
  Tears and love for the gray

May 30th having been designated as Memorial or Decoration Day, the event was duly observed yesterday by the members of the Grand Army of the Republic and also very many other of the citizens of Portland. The spirit and purpose of these memorial rites, as has frequently been explained, is to perpetuate the memory of those who perished—whether in prison, hospital or amidst the "fierce carnage of battle"—during the late civil war, by the profuse decoration of their graves with floral tributes, accompanied with appropriate, beautiful and symbolical ceremonies. Extensive arrangements had been made by the members of the Grand Army of the Republic, and it was determined to visit Lone Fir Cemetery, should the weather prove propitious, and hold the memorial ceremonies there.

At one o'clock the procession began to form, under direction of Mr. Geo C Sears, marshal of the day, on Third street, right resting on Alder. The procession was arranged in the following order: Northwestern Band, Members of the Grand Army of the Republic, Washington Guard, under command of Capt. Cooke, with 28 men, City Rifles, with 22 men, under command of Captain Birmingham, Emmet Guard, with 18 men, under command of Capt Walton, Representatives of the Excelsior and Mystic Lodges K of P, marshaled by Past Chancelor Buchanan, Mexican Veterans and invited guests on foot. Then followed a long line of carriages.

After forming, the procession moved over the following route: Up Alder to Fourth, up Fourth to Main, down Main to First, down First to Stark, and down the latter street to the ferry landing. Crossing the river and landing at the foot of L street, the procession reformed and took up the line of march for the cemetery. An immense concourse of ladies and gentlemen thronged the streets and sidewalks along the line of march, to witness the procession as it filed past. At the foot of Stark street, such a jam of humanity is seldom witnessed, prior to and after the arrival of the procession there.

In response to a general invitation extended our citizens to accompany the procession to the cemetery for the purpose of decorating the graves of friends, hundreds of ladies, gentlemen and children, availed of the opportunity afforded, and wended their way to the "Silent City," in which were peacefully slumbering fathers, mothers, sisters and brothers, laden with the fragrant tributes of Flora, which were to be strewn in sorrowful remembrance above their lowly and narrow beds. At an early hour in the forenoon the tide of humanity began to flow cemeteryward, and did not cease until the procession had reached the home of the dead.

Fifteen minutes' march from the ferry landing brought the procession to the cemetery. Reaching the main gateway, the procession filed through and entered the enclosure and proceeded to the spot designated for holding the ceremonies. A hollow square was formed, in the center of which was the grave over which the beautiful ceremonies were to be held. Near the grave was planted a small flag staff, from which was displayed the national colors at half-mast. At one side of the square a temporary platform had been laid for the accommodation of those who were to make addresses. As soon as everything was in readiness, the vast assemblage was called to order by Fred. K. Arnold, Esq., Master of ceremonies and President.

As an appropriate prelude to the ceremonies the band discoursed with plaintive effect a dirge entitled "Dust to Dust."

Rev. J. A. Cruzan, the chaplain, was then introduced and invoked divine blessing and guidance.

Following the prayer, Mr. Fred. K Arnold came forward and delivered the following very appropriate address:

We have met to celebrate in unison with tens of thousands of our countrymen elsewhere, the sad yet dear memorial rites set apart for this day, and although it is to us, in this far off corner of our land, but a typical ceremony, yet it is fitting and proper that we should observe it. As we deposit our floral offerings upon the graves here, the memory of each one can revert to some kinsman or friend, lying perhaps in an unknown and unmarked grave upon the field which he hallowed by his blood, and thus these vicarious mounds can aid us in the realization of the true spirit of "Decoration Day." We do not come to commemorate the triumph of the North over the South. Our wreaths hide no thorn of sectional bitterness. We are here to honor the dead for their patriotism and valor, to which we are indebted for the solution of the great problem, whether we are a confederacy or a nation. Their blood, shed upon the hundred battlefields of the war, cemented forever the loose stones of the great, yet insecure fabric of civil government erected by the fathers.

It is proper that at least once each year we the survivors of the conflict should come to renew beside the graves of our comrades our fealty to the cause for which they freely gave all and to lead our children hither to teach them the lessons which the mounds so eloquently utter.

And it is not too much to hope that the day will come when the people of every section, and of every race will unite in this ceremony, thankful that the sacrifices of these men have established us as a nation. And when that day comes, the sons of the men who charged at Gettysburg in that crucial hour of the Confederacy will join the sons of those who met and withstood the shock, and together they will exclaim in the words of a great orator, "Soldier in blue! you were not the soldier of the North, of a section, of a party, you were the soldier of the whole American people, of its deepest instinct, of its highest hope. And Florida, Georgia, Carolina and Virginia lift their free hands to heaven and bless God for the victory you won."

"We Deck their Graves Alike To Day" was sweetly sung by the Amphion Glee Club at the conclusion of Mr. Arnold's remarks.

Col. W. H. Smallwood, of Vancouver, who had been selected to deliver the memorial address, was next introduced by the president. We regret that the crowded state of our columns prevents the publication of Colonel Smallwood's address. Candor compels us to say that the effort was an honor to that gentleman and the occasion. The address was an appropriate, eloquent and scholarly tribute to the memory of those who had given their life in defense of country, and was delivered with an earnestness and force which held the unflagging attention of the immense concourse of people for nearly half an hour in the midst of a cold and drizzling rain.

"Hail Columbia" followed, by the band, discoursed in soft and subdued strains.

"Decoration Day," a beautiful song, was next rendered by the Alpha Glee Club. This club is composed of some seven or eight young gentlemen, members of the Alpha Literary Society. The piece was very creditably rendered by the club.

Miss Sonora Witherell, one of the most accomplished lady elocutionists in the city, was introduced and recited the beautiful poem written a few weeks ago by Samuel L. Simpson, Esq., and published in the OREGONIAN, entitled, "The Crowning of the Slain." Miss Witherell acquitted herself remarkably well, and her feeling and effective reading brought tears to many eyes.

Following the recitation, the "Red, White and Blue," was rendered by the band.

It was then announced by the president that the formal decoration ceremonies would take place. A hollow square was formed around the catafalque, when the marshal of the day, Mr George C Sears, advanced with a wreath of flowers to the side of the grave, and before depositing it upon the mound, said:

Comrades of the Grand Army and Friends: We come to-day with flowers to strew upon the graves of our departed comrades, a heartfelt offering prompted not by any feeling of ostentation or display but a tender of respect, twined around with love and sympathy for the brave and gallant soldiers who have passed away from life. 'Tis not the flowers we strew upon their graves that beautifies a scene like this—for every flower let fall by us to-day revives some remembrance of pain or pleasure associated with the past memory calls from out the gloom and shadows of the grave many a well loved form and we again behold them as when life and vigor prompted them to deeds of noble daring. To day the living commune with the dead through the beautiful language of flowers. To day the dead are revived. To day we call the roll that none may be forgotten, none pass away in obscurity. Our dead comrades respond not to our tribute. The clay encased in clay will thank us not. No spirit of gratitude will emanate from the cold and pulseless heart—but happy spirits are looking down upon us and rejoice that forgetfulness and ingratitude are the least of all our sins. Brave hearts so cold and still you shall not be forgotten, for as long as life is given us annually on decoration day you shall pass in review before us and when spring comes around with her fragrance and her beauties the choicest and sweetest shall be your portion and when our hearts have ceased to beat when our tears have ceased to flow may the last drop shed by us warm some spot of earth where the bright and fragrant flowers of memory may take root and grow forever fostered and cared for by as tender and loving hearts and hands as ours.

No more will the reveille waken
The long roll is beaten in vain,
"Taps" by death's trumpet is sounded,
The lights will be lit not again

H. H. Northup, Esq., in response to "The Army," came forward, and after making the following remarks, scattered floral tributes about the grave:

Comrades! We the living again come to the resting place of the dead to pay tribute to their virtues and to hallow their memories. The great armies of the war have long since dissolved into the greater hosts of peace. Silent is the roar of battle. No more the heavy column, the long march or the bivouac. Deserted is the tented field. The soldiers of the war are the tranquil men of peace. But when the welcome news came to break ranks for home, welcome alike to the wearer of the blue and the gray, many there were who heard not the glad command. They are our honored dead! The fate of war had marked them for its own. In the shock of battle or by dread disease they fell. Green be their graves! for the noble the brave and the true are gone. They have fought the good fight, they have finished their course.

Soldier rest! Thy warfare o'er,
  Keep the sleep that knows not breaking
Dream of battle fields no more
  Days of danger nights of waking
In our isle's enchanted hall
  Hands unseen thy couch are strewing
Fairy strains of music fall
  Every sense in slumber sewing

Soldier, rest! Thy warfare o'er
  Dream of fighting fields no more
Sleep the sleep that knows not breaking
  Morn of toil, nor night of waking

Music followed, when Mr D H Stearns came forward and made a few very appropriate remarks in response to the sentiment "Those who Died in Prison," concluding by strewing flowers upon the grave.

In response to "Our Foes," Mr Asher Tyler advanced to the side of the grave and said:

Comrades—We have met here this beautiful day to pay homage to the memory of the brave men who lie buried beneath these little mounds, silent indicators of the last resting place before the judgment day. Their manly forms have returned to dust from whence they came and that which is immortal has passed before the Great Master of life and been appointed to its sphere in that world where there are no wars and peace eternal reigns. With hearts full of sorrow at their loss we unite in this beautiful place to pay them this tribute of respect and drop a tear to their memory, making no distinction between him that wore the blue and him that wore the gray—all were brave men. The Confederate soldiers differing from us though they did in principle believing they too were right and willing to shed their blood for the cause they loved and lost, they command our respect for their courage and bravery at the battle's front, for they fought us well and gave us blood for blood, and made us feel that they too were Americans and citizens of our common country, and would only yield their cause until by superior force of arms and power, felt it was hopeless to continue the unequal strife. And now to their memory, upon this altar I deposit these beautiful flowers—emblematic of Peace, Friendship and Love—hoping that in all future time the same kindly feelings may exist between him that wore the blue and he that wore the gray, and that peace and good will may exist among all classes and conditions of men under our glorious old flag, and may it never be made to trail as a banner or a sectional emblem of a party's power, but that it may be the guidon of all and that the glad cry may be raised on high: no North, no South, no East, no West, but one people, one country, one flag and one cause.

This concluded the ceremonies. The procession then reformed and, marching back to the city, disbanded.

Notwithstanding the day was cloudy and showery, the ceremonies proved very interesting and impressive. The somewhat disagreeable character of the weather did not prevent persons from visiting the cemetery during the day. It is estimated that the attendace was in the vicinity of 2,500. The affair was well conducted, and we are gratified to state in conclusion that no accident, worthy of mention, occurred during the day.

On Sunday night a Kanaka at Tacoma shot a negro named Bob, who was asleep in his bed in a shanty. The murderer ascertained the position of the man's head and fired with a Henry rifle through an inch board that formed the side of the shanty, killing his victim instantly.

There is sense in this view of the lumber industries of Puget Sound which we take from one of the papers published there: While they furnish employment for a great many men and disburse a great deal of money here nevertheless through their agency the wealth of the Territory is being gradually sloped away to enrich parties in San Francisco.

THE PAPYROGRAPH

IS AN EXTRAORDINARY INVENTION FOR printing copies by the thousands from a single autograph writing or drawing. From one writing by this process a thousand permanent fac similes impressions of circulars, price lists, specifications, examination papers, assessment notices, etc., may be printed in an ordinary copying press, upon any description of paper. Copies may be taken direct from the writing without any of the usual operations of inking, rolling, transferring or typesetting. A proof impression may be produced within five minutes after a manuscript has been completed and be afterwards multiplied at the rate of five hundred an hour, at an infinitessimal cost.

One Thousand Copies

May be produced from a single sheet of Papyrograph Paper, and a single application of color, at an expense of four cents. It possesses over printing the advantages of an Autograph Letter, besides admitting of illustrations without the expense of wood cuts. It allows autograph letters to pass through the mail as third class matter. It is invaluable to any business. It can be seen in operation at the office of the agent for Oregon,

E. A. WILLIS,

At C. H. Woodard & Co.'s, Portland, Oregon.

We have reduced by its aid half our former printer's bills. It fully realizes our expectations. BRADLEY & RULOFSON.

We can safely say that in our business it is equivalent to at least three men. HUBBARD BROS.

More Charges against Pinney.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 30.—The other charges instigated by Wm. B. Carr against George M. Pinney of forgery and embezzlement came up in the police court this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Col. Thornton said the prosecution had talked a great deal about seventy or eighty additional charges which they were prepared to make and the defense would like to know something about them so they could determine the best method of proceding with the whole lot. The prosecution answered that they were preparing them as fast as possible, and the defense would have no cause to complain on that score. To allow them time to prepare Col. Thornton's motion to continue the case till Friday at 2 P. M. was granted and the case was so continued.

Complaint was lodged against George M. Pinney to-day in the police court in which upon the oath of Wm. B. Carr it is charged that the crime of conspiracy to cheat the Loan Bank, Savings and Loan Society, Pacific Bank, Swiss-American Bank, and Bank of British Columbia was committed on the 11th of September, 1874, and at many times thereafter, by Pinney and J. De La Montagnie; that they manufactured for that purpose false certificates of indebtedness from the United States to Montagnie dated at different times from September 11, 1874, to August 30, 1875, amounting in the aggregate to $640,294 50, when they well knew that $30,576 36 was during that entire period the whole extent of the indebtedness from the United States to Montaigne; that on the faith of these false certificates about $512,000 was borrowed by Pinney and Montaigne from said banks. In support of this statement copies of letters from De La Montaigne referred to are all incorporated into the complaint. These letters were found by Crawford, Pinney's brother-in-law, in Pinney's box, after his flight, and were produced by Crawford before the court-martial.

Crop Reports.

Crop reports from all the principal points in the State show that the recent rains have had a beneficial effect generally on late-sown grain and improved the prospect for feed. Some damage resulted from lodging early-sown grain and wetting hay cut, but on the whole the harvest promises rather better than at the date of last report. Experts are estimating the surplus wheat this season at two and three hundred thousand tons, but it is probably rather early yet to approximate very closely.

Decoration Day.

Decoration Day was observed with the usual ceremonies, banks, stock exchanges and principal places of business were closed and flags at half-mast.

Heavy Damages in a Breach of Promise Case.

SAN JOSE, May 29.—About 10 o'clock last night the jury in the Hanks-Naglee breach of promise case, returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $27,500. The amount sued for was $30,000. At the first count ten of the jury were in favor of giving the woman the full amount asked for, one in favor of $15,000 and one $20,000. The last named each went as high as $25,000 and compromised on the difference. The verdict created considerable surprise and it is thought that had she sued for $100,000 the jury would have given her three fourths of the amount. The case will be appealed.

Crime and Casualty.

This forenoon M. Hather was found guilty of murder in the second degree for the killing of Edgar May at Santa Cruz on the 25th of September, 1875, and who at his first trial for the offense was found guilty and sentenced to be hanged. He was brought into court and sentenced to 25 years in the State prison.

Bruno Uyoa, who was found guilty of murder in the second degree for the killing of Charley H. Parrott, was sentenced to 10 years in the same institution.

Last evening a Chinaman fell under the wheels of a freight train at Gilroy and had his head cut off.

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

Presbyterian Finances.

CHICAGO, May 28.—The General Presbyterian Assembly this morning recommitted to the committee on reduced representation the report, with several recommendations. The committee on church erection made a report showing gross receipts, with surplus, for the past year of $132,000; 172 churches have been erected, the average per church being $500. About 450 churches have no place of worship, but depend upon the board. The home missions board asks for $150,000 next year, and urges liberal contributions; adopted. The same committee made a supplemental report on overtures of the Salt Lake church, petitioning the assembly to pay its debts, amounting to nearly $11,000. The committee recommended the overtures be referred for careful consideration of the board of church erection. Consideration of report on German work, which report has already been presented to the assembly, resulted in its adoption with the recommendations of the committee. The following was received and referred to the board on church erection:

Resolved, That in view of the monetary stringency that prevails this year on the Pacific coast, arising out of the almost entire loss of crops, the rule of the board that restricts its grants to churches of $1,000 is relaxed in favor of the Synod of the Pacific coast.

The committee on narratives then made a report which sums up the year's work as marked by financial stringency, but spiritual prosperity and progress in all directions. The report was received and adopted.

In the afternoon session the committee on church polity reported several overtures and papers, mostly local, with recommendations, which were generally adopted. Regarding the overtures for the abolition of sustentation work or its transfer to another department, it was recommended that a committee of five be appointed to recommend changes, if any are desirable, and report at the next Assembly. Adopted.

The committee on correspondence reported the correspondence with the Church South, and recommend the adoption of resolutions:

First—Concurring with the Southern Assembly in an earnest desire for cordial and fraternal relations without distrust or alienation;

Second—Without casting any reflection upon past General Assemblies or changing any of their deliverances, we declare the language specifically complained of by the Southern Assembly, is a part of the sorrowful past which we, in this day of peace and fraternity, would wish to forget, and it is, too, a matter of sincere regret that the terms of schism, heresy and blasphemy should ever have been applied to Southern Presbyterians by any General Assembly.

Third—Appointing Rev. J. C. Backus, of Baltimore, Rev. H. A. Wilson, of Cayuga, and Elders Wm. E. Dodge, of New York, and S. M. Moore, of Chicago, to bear to our Southern brethren fraternal greetings, in the belief that these assurances remove every obstacle to a cordial, fraternal correspondence, and promising a cordial welcome to a like delegation from the Southern body.

The report was ordered printed and put on the docket.

In the evening session the committee on temperance made a report that the cause of temperance is allied with and founded on Christianity, as it had made good progress during the year. They denounce moderate drinking and urge church members to practice total abstinence from all intoxicating liquors as a beverage; recommended the dismissal from the church of any who engage in the sinful traffic in liquors, contrary to the law of God and wholly inconsistent with church duty. This report, with resolution appended which covered the points mentioned, was, after a long discussion and slight amendments, adopted. The discussion was at times warm, and one member said he saw a brother seated at a card table with intoxicating beverage before him. [Cries of "Shame!" "Name!" "Name!"]

CHICAGO, May 29.—In the afternoon the moderator announced several committees, after which the committee on benevolence reported. They were somewhat discouraged by the uncertainty as to whether they would continue in existence, and recommended an immediate decision of the subject. A question of the constitutionality of the synod's committee on benevolent work was discussed, but no conclusion reached. Assessment of the churches for the entertainment and mileage fund was made two cents for each member. The committee for the purpose nominated the Third Presbyterian Church of Pittsburg for the next meeting.

The Southern question again came up, and numerous speeches were made, and finally a vote taken, which resulted in the adoption of the amendment proposed to Doctor Robinson's substitute as passed. It is that while this assembly earnestly desires to be reunited, in closer relations with the brethren, we do not feel it expedient at the present time to take any further action on the subject, except to declare that we are ready cordially to receive a representation from and send a delegation to the assembly whenever they indicate they are willing to do so. The report on the policy of the church was then taken up. It has already been published, and refers to the court of appeals. Elder Ely submitted a long substitute which, together with the whole subject, was referred to the next assembly. In the evening, resolutions recognizing the valuable work of the Young Men's Christian Association were adopted. Reports of the several delegates who had visited other bodies, were adopted. The Myrian Skinner West case came up on an appeal from the Cincinnati Presbytery, which suspended Myrian for preaching an alleged unsound doctrine. Doctor Rockwell said the judicial committee, to which the case was referred, made unanimous report approving, in the main, the records of the Synod of Cincinnati, but excepting to some matters of form. After both sides were represented the whole matter was referred to a special committee, to report at the next assembly. The same action was taken with the report of the committee on home missions, made this morning. Adjourned.

CHICAGO, May 30.—The last day's session of the Presbyterian General Assembly began with a slim attendance. The committee's report on Chinese evangelization was reconsidered and referred to the committee on home and foreign boards. The report of committee on constitutionality of committee on benevolence of the synods was adopted. A resolution was adopted for a committee of eleven to investigate and report to the next General Assembly on the Skinner-West-McCune case. The report of the committee on installation of elders was referred to next General Assembly. Adjourned sine die.

HISTORY OF THE EASTERN QUESTION.

A little volume just published by Osgood, Boston, presents briefly and yet very clearly a view of the Eastern Question, and the phases it has assumed during the last one hundred years. Steadily during this long period Russia has been making encroachments on the power of Turkey. A review thus sums the history:

In 1768 the Turks interfered with the designs of Russia and Poland, and were beaten. In 1787 they went to war again, and were only saved from being utterly overthrown by Russia through the intervention of the European powers, headed by Great Britain. In 1810 Moldavia and Wallachia were annexed to Russia, and the peace of 1812 made the river Pruth the final boundary between the two hereditary foes. In 1815 the Servians obtained the right of local self-government, and in 1821 the Greeks rebelled and gained their independence in 1829. In 1832 the Egyptians under Ibrahim Pasha rebelled and forced Turkey to ask aid of Russia, which the latter was glad to give for certain rights of way. Seven years afterward another war between Turkey and Egypt caused the European powers to step in, with equal influence on the settlement of the Eastern question. In 1850 Louis Napoleon began to agitate the rights of Catholics in Palestine, and Russia the rights of Greek Christians. In 1853 the Russians, who had been refused the rights demanded for their co-religionists, entered Moldavia, and in 1854 began the Crimean war, ending in the treaty of Paris in 1856. In 1861 the principalities of Wallachia and Moldavia were united under the name of Roumania, while the Sultan promised equality of law and religion and local autonomy to all his subjects.

English Crops and Markets.

LONDON, May 29.—The Mark Lane Express, in a review of the grain trade, says: The weather during the week has been unsatisfactory as far as vegetation is concerned. An unusually low temperature has prevailed, accompanied by cold winds, which have prevented growing crops making progress. The reports are generally, though not entirely satisfactory, as to the aspect of winter-sown wheat, but the growth is everywhere checked by harsh weather. Business at the country markets was a good deal interrupted by holidays, but an unmistakable weaker tone was apparent in the Provincial trade during the week. Holders of wheat show more desire to realize, and sooner than run the risk of overstanding their market, farmers have accepted two shillings less. The tendency in the value of feeding stuffs is also downward. Imports into London last week were over 50,000 qrs. At the commencement of the week sellers showed considerable firmness. To all appearances owners were content to warehouse their wheat and abide the future course of prices rather than depress a market already weakened by forcing sales at a concession sufficiently tempting to attract buyers. This state of things continued until Friday, when the return of more springlike weather operated against sellers, and prices suffered a further reduction. The holiday character of the week's trade has caused business to be somewhat desultory, but transactions show a decline of 3s per quarter on the week. Arrivals of floating cargoes at ports of call have been more numerous, but the inquiry has been extensively inactive both for wheat and maize, and prices have been against sellers for sales of English wheat was 37,197 qrs. at 68s 9d against 41,958 qrs. at 44s 11d the previous year. Imports into the Kingdom for the week ending May 19, were 978,461 cwts. of wheat and 198,632 cwts. of flour.

WONDERFUL SUCCESS OF

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN

In the Treatment of Chronic Disease.

Positive Proof of his Wonderful Skill.

Testimony that Cannot be Contradicted.

Reliable Witnesses Testifying What he has Done for Them.

Perfect Cures where all other Treatment had Failed.

Crowds Coming from all Parts of the Country to Visit Him.

The Following Certificates Speak for Themselves:

TO DR. PAUL M. BRENAN—

For the past year and a half I have been suffering from Nervous and General Debility, Kidney Disease, Loss of Flesh and Strength, dizziness in the head and a constant pain through the back and loins. I became so debilitated and broken down that I was unfitted for business. I have been to Victoria and all over the coast under medical treatment for the past nine months, without receiving any benefit whatever, and had almost given up hopes of ever recovering, until I came under your treatment, about seven weeks ago. From the very first your treatment seemed to work like a charm, and I constantly improved from the beginning. I have gained 14 pounds of flesh, and I am now, thanks to your skillful treatment, perfectly well and am able to return to my business on the Snohomish. JAMES KING.

Seattle, March 31, 1877.

To the People: I have been troubled with chronic Nasal Catarrh for years, the disease being so aggravated that there was constantly an effusion of matter passing down into my throat behind the pallate and down through my nostrils.

My nose became depressed between the eyes and swollen on each side. I was told by physicians that it was a polypus; that some of the blood vessels were involved and that the removal would endanger my life by hemorrhage. I became so bad that I made up my mind that I must have immediate relief or die.

As a last resort I applied to Dr. Paul M. Brenan, who, after a moment's examination, determined what to do. He said the nasal bone was involved and diseased, and that there would have to be a portion of it removed. He at once removed the bone tumor containing the ulcer; also the diseased portion of bone and pituitary gland and cured the catarrh. I am now perfectly well and as free from disease as ever I was in my life. THOMAS D. MURPHY.

Seattle, April 5th, 1877.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN—Dear Sir: I take great pleasure in stating for the benefit of those who are afflicted with any chronic disease, that I am now a well man. For the past two years I have been under the medical treatment of different physicians, from which I have received no benefit. I have been suffering with general and nervous debility, a difficulty in my stomach, and at times dizziness and severe headache, almost incapacitating me for work. About three weeks ago I put myself under your care, and I can say with delight that I am cured and feel like myself again, after having partaken of your skillful treatment. To me now, labor seems a pleasure. I say this much, hoping it will be the means of attracting the suffering to you who can relieve and cure them.

Your's Truly, JOHN BALLARD,
Employed at Colman's Saw Mill, Seattle.

[I will not publish any cures performed by me unless by the full consent of the parties.]

Silver Bill Vetoed.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 30.—Gov. Cul day vetoed the bill to make silver coi tender in this State, giving as his reas he does not believe it a wise measur financial aspect, or constitutional. He believes the general assembly merely to express a desire that Congress w monitize the silver dollar. Should sil come to be at a discount it would flow State if this bill were passed, and would assume the burden of a debas rency. It would not make money plentiful, for it would expel an equal of better currency. It would not ligh rather increase taxes; it would in debtors, and the constitution of the States and of the State would forbid plication to existing contracts heretofor The local currency of 1861 is evidenc disadvantage of such a system in th while other States do not adopt it. If mained unchanged in value this bill have no effect, but it can not. Silver become more abundant, and that und law would compel our people to take a currency that is at a discount outs State. Discussing the constitutional qu he says, it it repugnant to the State co tion, as it has retroacting effect. This b interferes with the power of Congress t late the value of money and to coin it; unless conferred on the States are held exclusive. Moreover, Congress has d that subsidiary silver coin shall be tender for only five dollars. This bill at to go beyond and outside of that law gress had no intention of remitting th ject to State legislatures. Finally this experiment on too delicate a subject.
